Greetings,

It is my distinct privilege to recommend the firm of Dodson Foundation and Remodeling, of Allen, Texas. Tom Dodson, owner and primary engineer, is a business man of high integrity and meticulous craftsmanship. Each member of his entire crew of workmen is dependable, proficient, and takes great pride in not only their work, but also the manner in which they service their customers. My wife and I are happy to give notice that The Golden Rule is still alive and well in the DFW area.

We live in an area of old East Dallas that is particularly challenging in matters of residential foundation structures; and we were at least 10 years late in attending to a pier-and-beam foundation that was causing a good deal of interior damage. They were on-time, and did more than they were asked to do ahead of schedule. We were thoughtfully informed of the big picture; and felt, with Tom's honest and straight-forward manner, that we were making the best decisions, short-term and long-term. We are very pleased in every way with the job; and would enthusiastically act as an reference for the Company and Tom Dodson.
